THE STUDY

OF

THE HEBREW LANGUAGE.

If the Preterite and Future tenses, and the formation of them be well learned, which is no great work, [one single page in this Primer, p. 9.] all the difficulty of the Hebrew Conjugations is overcome. Robertson, First Gate.

(See also the fifth Paragraph in p. v. below.

If he first learns the Hebrew without Points, which may be done in less time than can be easily imagined, he will find it much easier to add to his knowledge the application of the vowel points, pauses, and accents, than to learn them all together. Dr. Sharpe's Dissert. Præf. p. viii.

TO THE HEBREW LEARNER.

The object of the Hebrew Primer, Syllabarium, and Reader, is to enable you to acquire some practical knowledge of the language before you undertake the Grammar. You have in three pages of the Primer (pp. 9, 10, 11.) as much of Hebrew Grammar, as you will have need of for some time; as you may judge by the first motto prefixed to this Tract. Before you look further into Grammar, than the three pages before mentioned, the best method you can follow will be to render the language in some measure familiar to you by Vocabularies, and translated Extracts from the Bible, and by transcribing the Hebrew text of the Psalms in columns of single words with the English, as in pp. 12, 13, of this Primer. The Psalms are recommended in preference to other parts of the Bible, because, when you come to study them grammatically, you have better grammatical helps for understanding what you read, than for any other portion of the Hebrew text; such as Bythner's Lyra Prophetica,* Tossani Lexicon, and Robertson's Key to the Psalms. Leusden's edition of the Psalter, printed by Bowyer, and sold by Ginger, Westminster, may be easily obtained.

^{*} A new and improved edition of Bythner's Lyra Prophetica has just been printed at the Glasgow University Press.

MELANCTHONIS ET LUTHERI

SENTENTIÆ

MELANCTHONIS.

Scio (ait egregius et modestus vir) me vix primis labiis degustasse litteras Latinas, Græcas, et Ebraicas. Sed tamen hoc ipsum, quod didici, quantulumcunque est, propter judicium de Religione, omnibus mundi regnis omniumque opibus longe antepono.—

Est nostri officii juventutem adhortari, ut hoc donum (linguæ Hebrææ) quod Deus semper in Ecclesia excitavit, et studiis doctorum conservari, voluit, tueantur, ac sciant se laborem sumere in Munere divino propagando, et in veris ecclesiæ opibus defendendis.

De linguæ hujus studio hoc vos oro et obtestor, ut cogitetis donum linguarum in Ecclesia divinitus excitari; et velle Deum, ut nostra diligentia id munus tueamur. Et laudat servos qui talenta collocarant in fœnus; et minatur ignavis, inquiens: Habenti dabitur; et non habenti, etiam id quod videtur habere, auferetur. (Op. Tom. III. p. 812. 821. et ad finem Orat.)

Necesse est in Ecclesia conservari linguæ Ebrææ cognitionem, cum et Prophetarum libri Ebræi sint, et Apostolica phrasis magna ex parte Ebræa sit.—Nec dubium est semper in Ecclesia aliquos fuisse ejus linguæ gnaros; etsi enim extant interpretationes necessariæ populo, et profecto non contemnendæ, tamen Deus semper vult testes aliquos illarum interpretationum esse. Vult in locis obscuris consuli fontes. Id beneficium Dei cognoscamus, et læti ac grati hanc linguam discamus, et quam plurimos ad eam discendam invitemus.

Quanto fit illustrior sententia Prophetarum iis, qui fontes norunt, experti judicare possunt. Illud constat, valde de Lectari bonas mentes certitudine sententiæ, cum nota sit prophetarum lingua.

Hieronymum adfirmo optime meritum esse, quod Prophetica scripta Latine reddidit. Bene meriti sunt et Septuaginta, aut quicunque alii fuerunt, qui Græce reddiderunt. Sed tamen in utraque interpretatione multa esse mendosa, plurima obscura, manifestum est. Necessaria est igitur ex fontibus emendatio. (Monitum Lectori præfixum Avenarii Grammaticæ Heb.)

LUTHERI.

Scio quantum mihi (cognitio linguæ Ebrææ) contra meos hostes profuerit. Quare hac quantulacumque cognitione INFINITIS MILLIBUS AUREORUM carere nolim.

Et vos quoque dabitis operam, qui aliquando docebitis Religionem, ut hanc linguam discatis, si non pecora campi et indoctum vulgus haberi vultis.—Sæpe monui ut Ebræam linguam disceretis.—Studium, quod in hanc linguam discendam collocatur, Missa quædam, seu Cultus Dei, merito vocari possit. Quare serio vos hortor, ne eam negligatis. Periculum enim est, ne Deus hac ingratitudine offensus privet nos non solum cognitione hujus sacræ linguæ, sed et Græcæ et Latinæ, et totius Religionis.

Sed præterquam, quod pars cultus divini est hoc studium, continet etiam maximam utilatem. Si enim aliqui futuri sunt Theologi, sicut necesse est, (neque enim omnes Jura et Medicinam discemus,) oportet eos esse munitos contra Paraum, et alios, qui cum unam Ebræam vocem sonare didicerunt, statim putant se Magistros hujus sacræ linguæ. Ibi nisi nos eam tenuerimus, tanquam asinis illudent et insultabunt. Sin autem nos quoque muniti fuerimus cognitione hujus linguæ, poterimus eis impudens os obstruere.—(Comment. in Psalm XLV.)

ALIORUM TESTIMONIA.

De facilitate linguæ Hebrææ.

Docet experientia pueros septennes, senes, fæminas, atque adeo Principes, laboris ut plurimum impatientes, discere posse linguam Hebræam, cujus rei exempla exhibent Goezius, Buxtorfius, Haymannus. (Simonis, Introd. ad Ling. Heb.)

Paula et Eustochium Hieronymo «μαθητισταν. Quin Blæsilla, Paulæ filia, paucis diebus difficultates linguæ sanctæ superavit, adeo ut in discendis canendisque Ebraicis Psalmis cum matre contenderet.

Origines jam grandævus contra naturam ætatis et gentis suæ Ebraice didicit.—Sturmius septuagesimo ætatis anno Ebræam linguam didicit.—Non defuerunt his proximis annis, inquit Franzius p. 56. omnium ordinum Venerandi Senes, qui hoc pietatis excercitium suæ senectutis divinam voluptatem constituerunt.

Habet et Belgium in utroque sexu, qui in linguarum Originalium studia sedulo incumbant. (Sixtinus Amama Parænesi de excitandis Sc. linguarum studiis.)

Quod paradigma (פֿקד) si vel cum sodali, vel etiam solitarie, bene exerceatur, nulla dehinc fere in universa lingua restabit difficultas. (Opitius Consilio de stud. Heb.)

Lingua Hebræa, qualis in Codice Heb. V. T. habetur, paucissimis absolvitur vocabulis: quisquis enim 5642 voces memoria tenet, ille totum Hebraismi complexum habet; cum contra lingua Græca ultra vocabula 80000 contineat. (Simonis, Introd. pp. 22 & 15.)

Talis est hæc lingua, ut haud decimam temporis et laboris postulet, quam Latina vel Græca, ut tradunt ejus insigniores magistri. Si quis enim menses aliquot in eam impendat, (menses, non annos, sic Erpenius) facile bonos progressus faciet. Bimestris vel trimestris industria sufficiet (sic Amama,) ut mediocriter quis addiscat: annum vero non requirit, ut omnis ejus difficultas feliciter superetur. Qui vero tantillum temporis ab aliis negotiis, et studiis, imo a ludis, abstrahere nolit; tam pretioso thesauro se plane indignum reddit; qui vero experietur, aboris fructus haud pænitendos brevi reportabit. (Walton.)

Facilitas vero istarum litterarum recte atque ordine perceptarum tanta erit, ut vere possim confirmare, plus uno Aut altero mense in iis, quam in Græcis aut Latinis toto fere anno profici posse. (Martinii Præf. Texpol. Heb.)

Testatur ipse Picus Mirandulanus in epist. ad Marsilium Ficinum, se unius mensis spatio ita didicisse litteras Hebraicas, ut citra culpam epistolam dictare potuerit. (Simonis, Introd.)

Immo septimana tantum unica studentes quosdam ingeniosos, quos tempus et occasiones urgebant, in Fundamentis Linguæ Hebraicæ necessariis, et in iis praxi textuali applicandis, institui; et in tantum edocui, ut ipsi perviderent se nihil ulterius indigere præceptore ad Biblia Hebraica perlegenda et intelligenda. (W. Robertson, Postscripto Thesauri Linguæ Sanctæ.)

Gentlemen, who are good Grammarians, are completely taught the Hebrew Grammar in twenty four hours, by twelve lessons only, so that there will be no occasion for any further verbal instructions. (Kettilby's Proposals for teaching Hebrew, London, 1762.) Idem Introductionem ad Linguam Heb. edidit, qua adjutus suo quisque marte id efficeret.

Simplicitatis et facilitatis linguæ Hebrææ argumento sint breves illæ döcendi rationes, quibus nonnulli grammaticæ rudimenta concludere potuerunt, alii grammaticæ suas in SEX HORAS, alii in decem, alii in viginti quatuor; alii autem in DIES SEPTEM, alii quindecim, alii in novendecim distribuentes.

APPELLATIO CLERI.

(Melancthonis et Lutheri verba ad Clerum vide supra.)

Aio itaque nullum Ministrum, qui linguarum rudis sit, in arenam posse descendere cum docto Papista, Socinianove, nedum os posse obturare adversario, quod tamen Paulus in Ministro desiderat. Nulla versio utrinque recepta est; ultimum principium est originalis textus. (Sixtinus Amama in Antibar.)

Miserum est in re tanta alienis videre oculis, eum præsertim, qui aliorum oculus est constitutus. (Gerhardus in Meth. Stud. Theol.)

Hebræam linguam si dico, rem dico, quæ omnium vere Christianorum et mentes et oculos in se convertere, æstimationemque cum admiratione summa conjunctam concitare, debet et potest.——Hebræa lingua, quæ mel meum est, meum nectar et ambrosia, meus scopus, mea prora puppisque, etc. (Glassii Orat. de linguæ Hebrææ necessitate.)

Augustinus jam progressa ætate Græce discebat, et passim dolet sibi non licuisse Ebrææ notitiam addere. Cum autem intelligeret quantas sibi frustrationes afferret ejus ignorantia, hortatur omnes Scripturæ studiosos ne ullam ejus discendæ occasionem negligant.—

Provoco tandem ad conscientias omnium piorum Ministrorum, qui aut præceptorum defectu, aut negligentia, aut denique mala studiorum directione has linguas in Academiis non didicerunt, annon jam in sanctissimi muneris functione, et sacrarum litterarum assidua meditatione, agnoscant, quantas sibi frustrationes illarum ignorantia afferat.—Rogantur itaque per viscera misericordiæ Domini nostri Jesu Christi, ut conjunctis operis id agant strenue, ut sanctissima hæc studia, temporum injuria propemodum collapsa, in ecclesia dei reflorescant. (Sixtinus Amama, Parænesi.)

JACOBUS ROBERTSON.

In Scholis et Gymnasiis prima Hebrææ linguæ sunt ponenda fundamenta; valde enim errant, qui in Academiis sibi demum notitiam comparandam volunt. (Heb. Gram.)

These Elements are intended simply as lessons of reading. Their object is to facilitate the introduction of Hebrew into Schools, where it has never been taught, (though it will be found useful in any school, where the method of reading without points is adopted for beginners,) and to assist the endeavours of such of the Clergy as may not yet have acquired a knowledge of the Hebrew language.

The learner will have many advantages in being able to read the language fluently before he undertakes the grammar. The EXTRACTS transcribed, wellread, and learned by heart, will supply him with very useful materials to exemplify the rules of grammar.

The method proposed in the Extracts is to familiarize the eye first to single words, and then to the same words in small combinations; and afterwards, to confirm the acquisitions so made by a review of the Hebrew without the translation. In Psalm cxix. the method is varied according to the learner's progress in reading.

The exhibition of the Extracts in columns of single words unites the advantages of an interlinear version and of a vocabulary; but it is more convenient than an interlinear version, because, where the words of the version do not exactly correspond with the original, but overspread it, the learner may sometimes be at a loss to appropriate to the original its relative terms. In the method here adopted he will have no such difficulty. It is also preferable to a common vocabulary, because, while the learner is reading, or commiting to memory, a useful stock of words, he is also making an actual progress in his Bible. And having acquired this collection of words, and some knowledge of their connection with each other, he will come to the study of the Grammar with the same advantage that he has in acquiring the rudiments of his native tongue. Of this last advantage he will be sensible, when he finds the materials of these Extracts reduced to paradigmata and examples to the several parts of grammar, which will be the object of a future publication. In the meanwhile he will do well to make himself master of the Extracts by transcription and reading, so perfectly as not only to construe the Hebrew words into English, but the English into Hebrew.

The method of this Introduction, with the use of the Copper-plate Copies, it is hoped, will enable Schoolmasters and Parents, who are unacquainted with the language, to acquire Hebrew with very little more trouble than that of superintending the exercises of their scholars and children.

T. St. D.

London, March 25th, 1807.

HEBREW PRIMER.

Though I do not think every Christian is bound to understand the Scripture in the original language (that being impossible to the far greater number); yet I should suspect he made but slight account of his religion, who, having capacity, opportunity, and leisure, neglected this or any other means of understanding the inspired writings in such a manner as would enable him to taste and relish the whole beauty and force of them.—Dr. John Robertson's True and Ancient Manner of Reading Hebrew without Points.

General Directions for Learners.

- I. Have the names of the letters perfectly by heart.
- II. Make the forms of the letters familiar to you by frequent transcription.
- III. Learn to write the letters correctly, and readily.*
- IV. Transcribe extracts from the Bible.
- V. Accustom yourself to read words letter by letter, till you can name them fluently as they occur.
- VI. Be content to spell, before you expect to read.
- VII. Read the language fluently, before you attempt to learn it grammatically.
- VIII. As soon as possible, have some passages by heart.

^{*} Copper-plate Copies of Hebrew letters and words have been engraved for the convenience of learners, which will be of great service in teaching Hebrew to all beginners, especially to very young persons and others who are not conversant in the learned languages; and may be had at R. Priestley's High Holborn, London.

Names of the Hebrew Letters.

There are two and twenty letters in the Hebrew alphabet: Aleph, Beth, Gimel, Daleth, He, Vau, Zain, Heth, Teth, Iod, Kaph, Lamed, Mem, Nun, Samech, Oin, Pe, Tsade, Koph, Resh, Shin, Tau.*

^{*} The memory will be much assisted in retaining the names of the letters, if they are learned in triads:

Aleph	Zain	Mem	Koph
Beth	Heth	Nun	Resh
Gimel	Teth	Samech	Shin
			Tau
Daleth	· Iod	Oi.'

Of the different species of Hebrew Letters.

Of the two and twenty letters four are vowels, viz. x, y, y; a, u, i, o. The rest are consonants. The vowel e has no expressed form, but its power is supplied between consonants; as in

בת	bet	a daughter
נד	nèd	a heap
רב	reb	much.

ADVERTISEMENT TO THE HEBREW READER.

The following pages are intended as a second stage of Hebrew Lessons. The Primer will teach the learner his letters; the Syllabarium will assist him to combine the letters readily into syllables; and both together will, it is hoped, be of service in bringing Hebrew into a very early part of Grammar-school education. The learner will find his advantage in making himself perfectly master of the Primer and Syllabarium by frequent reading, transcription, and repetition from Hebrew into English, and from English into Hebrew. He will then have little difficulty in reading the Decalogue and other Extracts from the Bible, which he will find in the Hebrew Reader, or elsewhere.

"Read the language fluently before you attempt to learn it grammatically." (VIIth General Direction.)

ADVERTISEMENT.

Nunc [initio seculi decimi septimi] videre liceat aliquos duodecennales pueros, immo virgunculas in aulis quorundam Magnatum, ct Dominos et Dominas illustres, Hebræa perfectissime et sine omni titubatione legere, et sufficienter interpretari. (FRANZIUS De Interp. Sac. Sc.)

THESE Tracts are printed in order to multiply the materials of Hebrew reading; to suit the learner's immediate use and convenience; and to mark more distinctly to him, what he has to do in acquiring the first elements of Hebrew.

To the following Tract are prefixed the testimonies of some learned men on the expediency of making the study of Hebrew an early part of grammar-school education; and on the important duty which this expediency imposes on the masters of grammar-schools. The testimonies here adduced cannot (it is earnestly hoped) fail to interest the valuable members of the community to whom they are addressed; and to induce them to undertake a charge, which cannot have been so generally declined, as it has been, but from a mistaken apprehension of its difficulty.

Of the easiness of learning Hebrew, the pages prefixed to the Hebrew Primer bear ample testimony. To them may be added, the passage at the head of this Advertisement, as evidence of the prevalence of Hebrew learning at the beginning of the seventeenth century. A practical proof of this facility is attempted in these initiatory Tracts, by reducing the elements of Hebrew to easy lessons of reading, in which the chief object is to assist the learner, who has no teacher; and to diminish, as much as possible, the trouble of teaching, to those masters of schools who may not yet have acquired any knowledge of Hebrew.

AD SCHOLARUM MAGISTROS.

TESTIMONIA

De officio instituendi pueros in Hebraicis litteris.

In Scholis et Gymnasiis prima Hebrææ linguæ sunt ponenda fundamenta; valde enim errant qui in Academiis sibi demum notitiam comparandam volunt. I. Robertson, Lin-guarum Orient. in Acad. Edin. Professor.

Novi scholas, ubi fundamenta linguæ Ebrææ magno Ecclesiæ et juventutis bono jaciuntur. Quotquot enim ex illis vel minimam Ebræarum literarum notitiam in Academias inferunt, felicissimo et inoffenso pede videas progredi; dum cæteros ad elementa alphabetica pudet descendere. Sixtinus Amama Parænesi in Antibar. Bibl.

Ante omnia necessarium est ut Scripta sacra, tanquam Epistolæ divinitus nobis scriptæ et relictæ, a nobis legantur. Non tantum autem illi, qui ex professo futuri sunt Theologi, sed etiam reliqui pii omnes, et cum primis literati, etc.

Nullam excusationem obtinere possunt illi Theologiæ addicti, qui in teneris annis, et vegeta ætate hoc pietatis exercitium negligunt, et ad annos differunt seros. Memoriæ vis tunc temporis est florida, unde omnia, quæ intra se recipit, tenacissime et diutissime optimeque retinet.

Sæpenumero inquisivi ordine ex piis alioquin studiosis, quænam verba essent primi versus in prima Ecloga Virgilii, quænam primi versus in secunda, quænam in tertia, et ita deinceps ordine, quis esset versus primus in primo, secundo, tertio, etc. Georgicorum et Æneidos. Hos versus isti mihi expeditissime et citra omnera cunctationem atque hæsitationem recensuerunt memoriter. Cumque studiosos Theologiæ esse scirem, e vestigio interrogavi, quæ essent prima verba in Genesi, Exodo, Levitico, quænam essent prima in Esaia, Jeremia, Ezechiele, Osea, Joële, Jona, Nahum, Malachia, etc. Ibi cogitabundi steterunt, et ignorantiam suam agnoverunt et deplorarunt, ejusque rei causam, nullam aliam, proferre vel agnoscere potuerunt ipsi quam hanc, quod a præceptoribus pueritiæ ad maturam bibliorum lectionem non puissent assuefacti, et quod a pueritia nihil nisi profanos tantummodo versus ediscere jussi fuissent.

Judaicæ sunt et non malæ admonitiones, absque dubio ex veterum Patriarcharum scholis natæ, quas edidit Sebastianus Lepusculus Basilides anno 1559, his versibus comprehensæ:—

Filius quinque annorum ad Biblia:
Filius decem annorum ad Mischna:
Filius tredecim annorum ad Præcepta:
Filius quindecim annorum ad Thalmud.

Optandum erat, Theologis quasi vernaculum esse Hebræum et Græcum textum veteris et Novi Testamenti; optandum erat, et quidem cum primis istud singulis erat optandum, nimirum iisdem omnibus, de quibus nunc sermo est, tam notas in ipsis fontilus phraseologias, quibus Spiritus Sanctus familiariter utitur. Sunt enim ut phrases certæ Ciceroni et certæ poëtis, ita certæ quoque Spiritui Sancto intra ipsos fontes. Ac quemadmodum phrases Latinæ non possunt verbo ad verbum commode in aliam linguam ita transfundi et verti, ut sono, pondere, vi congruant utrobique; ita pulchriores et puriores sunt phrases Hebrææ, nec tam facile, concinne, pureque in alias transferuntur linguas.

ITERUM IGITUR HIC VIDE INGENTEM DEFECTUM. A pueritia assuefecimus nos ad concinnandas latinitatis phraseologias ex oratoribus et poëtis, etc. et habent ista studia suo in genere suum usum. Econtra fontium sacrorum proverbia, adagia, φρασιολογηματα Scripturarum nostra puerilis et juvenilis ætas aut non aut rarissime maturo fuit jussa observare, intelligere, æmulari. Hinc ad fontes ipsos Scripturarum, quæ talibus consignatæ sunt singularibus phraseologiis, adducti obstupescimus et trepidamus, tanquam in ignota, ingenti sylva, circumquaque circumspicientes de auxiliatoribus interpretibus; et, aut tunc de novo scholasticos agere, et istas res novas necessarias addiscere cogimur incipere, aut sæpe præ tædio, præ difficultatis spectro, omnia intacta relinquimus, et ex Bibliis juxta fontem considerandis fugimus.

Quod supra innui, filium quinque annorum solere adhiberi ad legenda Biblia inter Judæos, et optandum esse ut apud cunctos, et ita quoque apud nos idem ab universis et singulis fieret, id omnino intelligi cuperem etiam de ipsis linguis, ut maturius cuncti ad linguam hebræam, syram, arabicam adhibeantur pueri. Interim multi quandoque diutiusque profanis addictiores, et in sacris ætatis suæ tempore primo negligentiores nec in Bibliis satis fiunt potentes, sed habitare coguntur in aliorum commentationibus.

Addo autem hujus mali et hujus juvenum neglectus unicam causam esse irsos pueritiæ præceptores. Puer duodecim aut quatuordecim annorum [imo quinquennis,* aut, si mavis, septennis,] ad Hebræa una cum reliquis addiscenda est aptissimus. Tunc igitur instruatur in istis, ut successu temporis, præsertim in Academiis, solidiora fundamenta superstruere veleat. Franzius de Interp. Sac. Scrip. p. 1, 2, 7, 8, 40, 41, 42.

Alii denique nimis sero ad hanc sanctam linguam applicant, et perfunctorie tantum eandem cognoscere allaborant. Preceptores scholarum trivialium objurgatione digni sunt, qui juventuti tantum instillant profanos auctores Latinos et Græcos, et ex Scholis linguam Hebræam, hac nostra memoria summe necessariam, excludunt, et ad academias remittunt. In Scholis istis trivialibus, ut omnium aliarum artium, ita et linguarum orientalium principia et fundamenta poni debebant, quæ ob hoc potissimum, et quidem ab ineunte ætate essent cognoscendæ, quod ab ipso Deo immediate sint profectæ. Sed eheu! quam parum Scholæ nostræ nunc Ebraizant! imagno strepitu tantum inculcatur Latina et Græca lingua; quæ præpostero quodam amore solæ, solæ inquam, evehuntur exclusa Ebræa reliquarum regina. Nec est quod institutionis et linguæ difficultatem hic mihi objicias. Optime possunt conjungi, et pueris proponi Latina lingua et Græca et Ebraica, modo accesserit doctus, conscientiosus, et laboriosus informator, qui præcepta brevia et universalia ipsis proponat, et quidem, quod caput rei est, non a præceptis, sed ae ifsa lingua initium faciat.—Trostius Præfat. Gram. Ebr.

JANI DRUSII

Testimonium de insigni exemplo maturi profectus in linguis Orientalibus.

Filium unicum ac proinde charissimum habebam, in quo spes omnis rerum mearum sita erat; quo, tanquam scipione, senectus mea innitebatur. Qui etiam, ut alia taceam, cos progressus fecerat in linguis Orientalibus, ut, non dico superiorem, sed ne parem quidem in Europa ullum habuerit. Qui noverunt autem plurimi cum in Anglia, tum in Belgio, sciunt me verum dicere.

Anno quinto ætatis cæpit cum Latinis discere literas Ebraicas: quibus postea Græcas, Chaldaicas et Syras adjecit. Anno septimo interpretabatur optime Davidem in sua lingua, sic ut Judæus quidam, qui tunc Leidæ Arabicum profitebatur, cum admiratione illum audiverit. Biennio post legebat Ebræa sine punctis vocalibus, et quod'ipsi Rabbini doctissimique Judæorum hodie ignorant, rationem callebat ex arte grammatica, qua singulas voces punctari deberent.—Anno duodecimo scribebat ex tempore tam prosa quam carmine rythmico, ut mos est Ebræis.
